to the Janesville Gazette
Barron to Spokane, Wash.—He sat alone in a Goldman seat, there were no crowds to greet him at the stations along the way; he had no retinue of secretaries or newspaper men with him; he wore a soft collared shirt and a dark trench coat and a threadbare suit or clothes; nobody recognized him except the writer, for he was William Z. Foster, candidate for the president on the ticket of the Workers' Party of America—an avowed believer in communism.

There had always been in my mind a burning curiosity to find out what the Z. Foster of the good opportunity to learn the answer to that and a dozen other questions which the advocacy of communism by a man naturally arouses.

STOUGHTON DRIVER TAKEN ON CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER

GEORGE FORBES, WHOSE CAR KILLED BABY, IS ARRESTED.

WOMAN VERY ILL

Mother of Dead Child Still in Critical Condition from Injuries.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Stoughton—George Forbes, Stoughton, was arrested here Wednesday on a charge of manslaughter, charged with being responsible for the death Tuesday night of Roger Williams, four-month-old infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Williams, who was injured in an automobile accident Saturday night.

The baby died from concussion of the brain and internal injuries.

Forbes was taken to Madison, where he will be arraigned and a date for his preliminary hearing set.

Madison, Sept. 23.—

Officers at first planned to arrest Forbes for transportation of liquor, a search of the wrecked car at the foot of the nine springs hill, where it struck a culvert, having disclosed several jars filled with alleged moonshine. A warrant was issued not so much for the manslaughter charge, being preferred instead.

Mr. Williams, mother of the dead child, is still in critical condition, suffering from a broken jaw and a deep wound in her scalp. Other occupants of the car were Forbes, Mrs. Orla Johnson and Mr. C. Williams, escaped with minor injuries.

Without Headlights

Investigation by authorities is said to have disclosed that Forbes was driving without headlights. Should he be freed on the manslaughter charge, officials say, it is expected, when he is given a warrant charging reckless driving and operating a car without headlights.

Cars Run Amuck

Kaukauna—The 15th Kaukauna was killed as "the last refuge of American patriotism worthy of the name" by Imperial Wizard Hiram Wesley Evans in addressing the second Imperial Klavocation of the order here today.

"Klanmen and Klanwomen are verily the salt of the earth" upon whom depends the future of civilization," the imperial wizard declared.

Asserting that the future of America and the white race "hangs in the balance," Evans said that "the blood which produced human freedom must not be forgotten from indifference and from the competition which saps the vitality of leadership, which saps the struggle for existence such a burden that people stagger under it."

"You," he told his Klan auditors, "are of this superior blood. You are more—you are leaders in the only movement in the world at present which exists solely to establish a civilization that will insure these things."

The imperial wizard declared that the outside world "will eventually know that Klansmen do not hate Roman Catholics, Jews, negroes or aliens."

"The Klan's fight," he continued, "is not with the people, but with systems and instincts and principles which run counter to Anglo-Saxon instincts, American and Protestant principles."

The constitution of the United States tolerates but it favors none. Hence the only demand the Klan makes of the Roman Catholic church is that she cease meddling in American politics and that she come down from her self-created pedestal of special privilege and take her place alongside the Methodist, Baptist and other churches."

MORE BALLOTS FOR MISS POPULARITY

JEFFERSON COUNTY

FT. ATKINSON

You Didn't Know We Had So Many Girls Did You. Now?

Never before in the history of this section of the state has there been such wide interest or exciting enthusiasm displayed in the contest as is now manifested in the nomination being conducted to select the most popular girl in southern Wisconsin.

In the towns surrounding Janesville, the interest has just been manifest, the citizens urging the townspeople to concentrate their entire strength on a single candidate from their own communities. Such efforts, it was predicted, holds likely possibilities of having one or more girls from the section win among the winners of the contest.

An additional stimulant was added to the contest Tuesday, when Thomas Saxe, owner of the new Jeffels theater, announced that he would award a separate prize of $10 to the young woman having the largest number of votes when the ballots were counted Saturday. The results of the voting of that prize will be announced in the Gazette next Monday. The ballots will be counted daily at noon and the public has been warned that votes deposited after the noon hour will not be included in those announced in the Gazette the following day.

Tuesday's count showed a number of new and startling developments in the race, with several candidates holding new positions close to the top. The largest number of votes cast Tuesday were for Bessie Ellis, 215 S. Main street, who polled 50,950 votes for the day. Marjorie Cook, 429 N. Pine street, who has been wavering between second and third place in the contest for several days, moved up to a sudden start Tuesday and jumped into first place with a total of 78,400 votes. She polled 19,650 votes for the day. Hazel Powers, 212 Dodge street, climbed into third place with a total of 62,350 votes.

The merchants distributing ballots' report a lively interest in the contest among the citizens of the city. The four leading banks announced that approximately 175 new savings accounts had been opened by new customers wishing to obtain the 1,000 votes which each bank gives with every new saving account opened. These accounts, they said, ranged from $1 to $150.

Ready for the Call for Aid

There has been a terrible disaster in Wisconsin. By this time the dead have been counted and they number sixty or more. Property has been ruined, the work of days and weeks and years of toll in the cut over lands and the old, heavier forests, where houses were built, have in the twinkling of an eye, been destroyed. Children are homeless, babies are orphaned, mothers and fathers have lost their children, and the story of disaster in detail is the most tragic we have known in Wisconsin. There will be aid needed. Help must be had for those suffering. We shall not be wanting when the call comes, as it will. A great state in neighborly friendship and with a big generous heart will spell service in this hour of need.

What a fine couple Toxic Stinson and Gaston Means would make!

Diamonds in the Milk Pail and the Greatest Jewelry Exhibit.

The Gazette has had occasion to call attention to the milk pail in Wisconsin as the greatest of the nation's diamond mines. It is a greater producer of wealth than gold mines. And the most elaborate exhibit of the jewelry that comes from this milk pail mine will be exhibited at the National Dairy Show in Milwaukee next week.

The National Dairy Show is the classic of the dairy industry. It was well termed by the Commissioner of Agriculture of the state, John P. Jones, Jr., who delivered an amazingly interesting address before the joint meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and farmer friends Tuesday evening. In contradiction to the general advice of some of the near-economists who talk to farmers, Mr. Jones did not advise cutting down or impairing production. That was not the way to wealth and prosperity. Greater production was necessary if the state maintained the leading position in the dairy world now held.

There was more to do than to merely produce but the combination's words of caution that it had taken Denmark 60 years to get into the organized cooperative handling of its butter and other products and that the United States would arrive at the solution in time, differed much from the ordinary doleful song about the farmer's lack of market understanding.

Commissioner Jones was talking to a group of farmers who have been searching for, and in some ways have solved the smaller marketing problems. Perhaps no farmers anywhere in the state are more deeply interested or better able to grasp the intricacies of profitable marketing than the men of Southern Wisconsin. He was also talking to farmers who are fairly well organized and who realize they are in a business with capital interests and are unwilling to be placed in the category of working for a wage on their own capital. There was an immense sum represented as investments by the farmers present at the dinner Tuesday evening. Each one there operated a plant and is in the true sense a manufacturer.

We have had other speakers and leaders here who have had emphasis on the demand for proper marketing. We need that sort of advertising to make people think of Wisconsin dairy products when they come to order at the provision store. One of the hopes to that end is the National Dairy show. Rock county is to have a day there next Thursday, October 2. It should be a real day with more than a thousand people from this country in attendance. Other neighboring counties should also join. Whatever is good for Rock county is good for the neighbors and turn about.

It ought not to be hard to sell the diamonds we obtain from the milk pail mine. What we need now is to let more people know about it and here is one opportunity which we shall not allow to pass without taking all advantage possible.

Gandhi is to fast 21 days in the interest of peace. Now if the Chinese premiers will act on this suggestion we might get somewhere with peace.

Judge Lueck in Janesville

Judge Martin Lueck will speak in Janesville tonight. He is a candidate for governor, nominated on the democratic ticket but with less than 25,000 votes out at the primary. As a party, the democratic party in Wisconsin has practically disappeared. So has the organized republican party. There is a Coolidge and Dawes ticket in Wisconsin but the electors were not selected by any representatives of Coolidge or Dawes. There is a ticket for state offices running under the caption of republican, but certainly not republican.

In his campaign for governor, Judge Lueck is confining himself to issues of the state of Wisconsin, to the record of the incumbent governor and is taking up the battle where Mr. Hirst left off. Mr. Ulrich is supporting Judge Lueck because the Judge is fighting that sort of fight which single-handed Mr. Hirst made in the state.

There is ample material in Wisconsin for the Judge to talk about. We want no personal political machines in the state whether they are for conservative republicans or for anybody else. We want offices filled on merit and not for what voters may be brought in by the appointees. There is room for reform in administration. If we are ever to get anywhere with economy in government we must take the government of the state back to the people and let the constitution again be our guide and director. We have wandered far, afield with all our commissioners and in-

THE AMERICAN GOVERNMENT

II—The Department of State

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

The following article is a portion of a chapter from the revised and enlarged edition of the famous book, "The American Government," by Frederic J. Haskin, The Janesville Daily Gazette has secured the right to publish a series of twenty installments from this authoritative volume which shows how Uncle Sam does the people's work. Owing to the interest in the campaign these letters will be of unusual value because they portray the size and importance of the great governmental machine, the control of which is the stake for which the political parties are contending.

In some parts of the world the consuls also have judicial functions. Usually they manage to settle out of court difficulties involving American citizens. But there was a case in Turkey where a naturalized American of Greek birth was condemned by his neighbors who said that terrible, unbearable odors came from his residence. The American consul investigated and found the objectionable odors even worse than reported. In the basement of his house the Greek-American had set up great vats filled with a vile compound into which he and the members of his family were dipping new Persian rugs. He frankly explained that he was making old rugs out of new ones because they brought high prices from credulous tourists.

The consuls are the overseas tax collectors of the government, and they also act as its tax master abroad. Americans do not escape the income-tax man by living away from home. It is recorded that one consultant into the treasury in one year $35,000 in tax collectors.

The card index of the department of state covers diplomatic matters and all matters in which the Consular service has a hand. Through this index the state department officials have at their finger tips a million facts. The simplest and seemingly the most insignificant matter of today may affect the diplomacy of the world a decade hence. It is important that information concerning these things be kept up, and equally important that it be made readily accessible when needed.

That the volume of this information is large is demonstrated by the fact that it has required nearly 4,000,000 cards to index the matter accumulated. That it covers a wide range is shown by the fact that it may relate to an international situation affecting all of the government of the earth, or to the registration of the marriage of John Smith and Susie Brown in Singapore.

One phase of state department work is of vital importance—the creation at home of enlightened public opinion on matters relating to foreign affairs. It is through the newspapers and the corps of trained correspondents they maintain in Washington that the secretary of state seeks to inform the American people of what is going on in International affairs, and to point out the interests common to all Americans in any circumstances for the preservation of which his policy is shaped. By reason of the fact that he is engaged in delicate diplomatic correspondence, he is unable to fully publicly of what he is attempting to do. He is the official spokesman of the government on such matters and every word he utters has weight in the foreign offices abroad, so his public statements must be guarded and carefully thought out. In this emergency, the secretaries fall back on his conferences with the newspaper men. The press conferences are held in a room in the state department and no unauthorized person may be present. It is not true in Washington as it is in foreign capitals, however, that separate conferences are held for the home correspondents and for those who represent foreign newspapers.

With his far-reaching army of workers over the world, it is not strange that it is upon the secretary of state the task devolves in any great disaster or emergency of caring for the Americans abroad who may be in distress. It was thus that the diplomatic and consular services, on the outbreak of the World War, became the centers of relief for the thousands of Americans who had been caught unaware in the belligerent countries. Millions were distributed to them when the banks abroad were closed. Each embassy or legation or consulate became a rescue station and was swamped with Americans, many of them wealthy but unable for the confusion of war to obtain money for food and shelter. The gold was rushed abroad in a cruiser and detachments of the ship's crew carried it to the ambassadors or ministers in inland capitals. In one instance two marines were given the task of moving $20,000 in gold across a frontier where train service had been suspended and where there was no other means of transportation over a gap of several miles. The gold was in bags which could not be carried. But they could be rolled, and rolled they were. Badly battered, but with their contents intact, they were finally turned over to the embassy and the penniless American refugees. More recently, it was through the American embassy at Tokio and the American consul elsewhere in Japan, that relief measures, not for Americans alone, but for stricken Japanese as well, went forward almost as soon as the great tremor that wrecked cities and brought death to tens of thousands had ceased to vibrate. The long arm of the government reaches across the seas.

III.—The Treasury Department

The treasury department of the United States handles more money than any other one institution on earth. As the national tax collector, as the supervisor of the monetary and banking systems of the nation, as the conservator of the national credit, and as the guardian of the financial resources of the country, this department occupies a position of unique importance. The government is one vast business entity, and the treasury is that entity's purse.

The collection agency of the government is the bureau of internal revenue. It has 65 districts throughout the United States. Prior to 1917 the relations of the bureau were with a relatively small number of firms and individuals engaged in specified occupations. Within a brief period after the declaration of war with Germany, the bureau was transformed into an agency that reaches millions of citizens.

The income tax today is the chief source of revenue. Approximately 7,000,000 individual returns are filed annually, not all of which, however, are taxable by reason of the exemptions and credits. The intent of the tax law is that each person shall pay in proportion to his income.

spectors—appendages and attachés of government, never dreamed of by the men who wrote the fundamental laws of Wisconsin.

It is a pleasant thing to know that Judge Lueck is thoroughly discussing these things in which all citizens are vitally interested.

It's a great thing to have a man like Clem Shaver, chairman of the democratic national committee, looking after the interests of the people. Nobody is going to put anything over as long as Clem is sitting on top of the doghouse, not even if he has to vote for La Follette to stop Coolidge from election.

Premier MacDonald is in trouble over accepting an automobile from a political opponent. He is not the only man in public life who has had trouble because of an automobile.

We cannot understand the view point of those who feel that it is treason to admit that the state of Wisconsin will not be safe for Coolidge.

JUST FOLKS

BY EDGAR A. GUEST.

JIM JOHNSON
Jim Johnson wasn't much to see, so went his aristocratic was he.
No stylish clothes he wore; He never owned a pair of spats.
He had no use for high silk hats
Or buttons at his door;

A suit some one might give to him
Was plenty good enough for Jim.

Jim Johnson was no learned man.

His grammar never smoothly ran,

"Now, then," he'd say, "done."

You'd say: "I saw," he'd say: "I seen."

I think you know what I mean.

He was not the polished son.

He fished and hunted year through

And made his living by it, too.

That power divine which shapes our ends

In curious ways provides us friends.

And so it was with Jim:

Each summer to his village came,

Great wealth and worldly fame,

To hunt and fish with him,

And they would sit the whole night through

To hear him tell what he knew.

Jim knew the stars, the birds, the trees,

The habits of the honey bees.

And all of nature's lore;

He knew a thousand, secrets hid

From men who always say: "I did."

And here is something more:

These polished sons of life rejoiced

To hear the stories that he told.

They loved him. Underneath the rough,

Exterior and his manner gruff,

They saw the soul of him.

Nature had taught him all he knew,

And spite of flaws which critics view,

Had made a man of Jim.

The man who knows what you don't know

Always has something to boast.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 25, 1924

Astrologers read this as an uncertain day.

While Venus and Saturn are in benevolent aspect,

the Sun, Neptune and Mars are all adverse.

Women should be lucky through the early upon established work and old associations, avoiding any changes.

This is held to be a lucky date for weddings,

if the ceremonies are performed before noon.

Men should find this a most auspicious day for real estate transactions or for farming in which there should be big returns.

Aged persons of both sexes should benefit under this planetary government, which promises an increase in the amount of their income.

Permanent roads are a good investment—not an expense

Road Building
Far Behind the Automobile

Millions now recognize the automobile as a necessity. It is no longer a luxury for the few. Sixty per cent of its use is for business.

Because of this the modern paved highway has become an economic necessity.

Yet although the mileage of Concrete Roads and Streets has been steadily increasing, our highway system today lags far behind the automobile. The great majority of our highways are as out of date as the single-track, narrow gauge railway of fifty years ago.

Such a condition not only seriously handicaps the progress of the automobile as a comfortable, profitable means of transportation, but also holds back commercial, industrial and agricultural advancement in practically every section of the country. It is costing tax-payers millions of dollars annually.

Highway building should be continued and enlarged upon.

Your highway authorities are ready to carry on their share of this great public work. But they must have your support. Tell them you are ready to invest in more and wider Concrete Highways now.

SHOWDOWN! He managed to do it. Hogan did it." That phrase has so much power in it that it can be applied to none other than a champion. It was one of the expressions that came out of the national professional golfers' tournament at Peoria, Illinois, last week. While others of the veterans have been falling out gradually and their places taken by younger golfers, Walter Hagen has kept right on playing a game that has stamped him as the world's supreme this year. Hagen seems to be the only one capable of going on year after year, and he has done it. He has won the Open, the British Open, the national open, and, in taking the national open, Hogan was off his game in the hands. Yet, he came through because he stuck to it and played. Though he played badly, his success came because he played bad golf well, that is, he never stopped trying. And because he did, he won his dues and took his place among the greats. The British started slipping. Hagen won the British open and the national open titles this year to outshine every other golfer at home and abroad.

Sixty-fourteen in Hagen's sweep of 141-141-141, in most of events for new French record.

Watertown, Conn., was first name of "Ultimate World Series" from Bettendorf, 54-1.

DIAMOND SPARKLES.

At the polo grounds, Wednesday, Pittsburgh, George E. Clegg, president of Miss National League to the Herton Gillett or forever hold his peace—Meanwhile, Father Knickerbocker prepares for the ceremony at which the Robins must apparently be content to sing. The winner from the west will be the strategic drawbridge into the round of 5 to 5, the 100-mile, before his attempt to enter the castle on Connie's Bluff Wednesday, led by Emil Tiedemann, 10th of the clan McGraw, stationed an apparently deepest of the gates. Terry, first, Lindstrom, third, third, and fourth, and, in the end, were the whistlers, and Kelly, a stranger of second base—Wilson, a first year man, was in left and Gowdy, a war veteran, behind the bat. The Pintos charged boldly. In the second inning, Lindstrom entered a single and O'Connell, a double, only to what may prove to be a $100,000 home run to the top of the stands—in the seventh, after Terry and Young were passed, Wilson singled and Gowdy, the old soldier, cleaned up with a double. In the eighth Kelly stopped a base hit with two plays, McGraw followed similarly, while Lindstrom faltered twice, as a result of the victory, the Giants who played like champions throughout the Pintos by two and one-half games. Another victory Wednesday will put back the Pintos out of the race—McKeehan's team can still catch the Pintos, however, who won all of their games, and was virtually eliminated Tuesday by the Cubs, who qualified as best man for the Giants by trouncing Dizzy Dean, 5 to 4, in 10 innings, although they gathered only four hits and three bases on batters. Three of the Pintos shows were honored, two by Gethman, one each by two men on. Two base hits by Wheat were not enough. The Robins are a full game behind the Giants with only three left to play—Washington maintained its two games lead over the Yankees in the American League, but the national fielding by the veterans, holding with determined grit to their lead, checked the attempt and won, 7-6. The Yankees scored another easy victory over Cleveland, 8-2, but must wait for their five remaining games to clinch the title of its five to win the pennant. The Senators can clinch the flag by taking four or by winning three—Detroit won its fifth straight game, defeating Boston, 3-2, and the Athletics sharpened up their bats for the series with the Yankees by beating the Red Sox, 4-2, in the final round of four games in the National by defeating Boston, 4-1, and the Cardinals won a 10 inning game from the Phillips, 8-7.

HOT OFF THE GHIDIRON.

Seminole Wednesday and Thursday will complete heavy practice for the western conference football teams to be held on their schedules this week—Indiana, Purdue and Wisconsin, which begin Saturday, will devote the eve of battle to light workouts and "skill practice" but until then will continue to perfect their plays. With the amnes next week as objective, other conference squads will spend the next few days in developing talent and testing out new plays—St. Louis, McLean, Mcmasters and Nelson lead for tackle positions at Wisconsin with Purnell assured of one end; Teekemeyer of center and Biekerstetler, Miller and Stipek, who are working on the attack. Hes to work a month with the backfield—Casper and Holt regular Gopher centers may be out of best game of Minnesota—Karens start in the Olds States holds sermons—Illinois team looks much like that of 1923—Notre Dame's Indians interest in the football game is more than that Capt. Walsh may be out for most of season—Marquette to take three teams to Lombard, Saturday—St. Louis and forward passes of Indiana—Roseboro assumed an end position at helmet, where loss of field is felt—Purdue attempting to lose weight—Changes being made in Michigan backfield—New plays being led to Northwestern team—Unskilled drill occupies large part of Chicago practice.

Southwestern Wisconsin longs quite because of poor attendance and will take up home talent baseball next year.

SCRAPPS ABOUT SCRAPPERS.

Bud Taylor, Terre Haute, Indiana, was a decision over George Green, of the Green Bay Packers, to Paul Veltz, lightweight, and Eddie Grotz, middle, 60. Sid Sodlin, Lincoln, Neb., won in the second round from Paul Ellerby, of Sterling, Colo., and Eddie McCarty, Los Angeles lightweight, knocked out Jimmy Shultz, of Chicago, 10-1. In the third round, Eddie Grotz, won the world's heavyweight wrestling title from Joe Purcell, by taking two out of three falls. Purcell's arm was broken in the third fall—Frankie Gromo, American flyweight champion, won over Bushay Grunin of Utica, New York (12)—Proposed lightweight tournament in New York is abandoned.

The Janesville city bowling team, the strongest aggregation of pin tumblers in the town, got off on a sensational start Tuesday night when a best three-game total of 2726 was set up and four games of over 900 were shot. This was the most spectacular opening of the circuit in the last few years.

The High Games.

Rapping the wood for games of 651-851-906, the Car's Grocery team gathered in the 2726 count. Compare this with the fact that the highest count here all last year was 2821. All last year, there were but the games that were better than the 951 games. In this game, Merrell's had 1925, 1878 and Dickerson, 1882.

In making the 2726 count, Dickerson had high three of the night.

With 590 (192-362-194), Kirsch had 1925; Pfeifer, 523; Catts, 556; and Dickerson, 587.

All Clean Sweepers.

The circuit started off with 15 honor single game counts. Mat Ryan of the Lewis Knitters led the procession with 225. The others were 200; were Clawson, 222; Schilling, 215; R. Ryan, 211; Groves, 201; Robbins, 202; W. Ryan, 199; Catts, 198; Lewis, 197; Kirsch, 201; Trichtoff, 200.

All six games were won on clean sweeps. Carr's took three from Wadham; Grebe & Newman three from the Ralls; Cronin Dairy three from Standard Oil; Lewis, winning the first from the Grand Hotel; Catts, three from the Schlitter Tires; Gazette three from the Janesville Pure Milk.
